For personal protection when handling first aid treatment, our AeroGlove™ Gloves ensure a solid barrier between yourself and your casualty. The AeroGlove™ Gloves are powder free and offer easy application and removal. As they are designed to be discarded after use, it is not possible to reuse them. As well as a protective barrier from potential bacteria, it also offers first responders and medical personnel support when dealing with hazardous bodily fluids. Our Gloves are designed to keep all parties safe. The casualty or patient also benefits as the gloves ensure a sterile treatment for first aid and dressing changes. The AeroGlove™ Gloves are ideal for use when responding to first aid incidents or as part of hospital or caregiving personal protection equipment. As well as ensuring the safety of wearers, it keeps care receivers safe.
